

Attending the JCK Show? Practice badge safety!

So, you're planning to attend the JCK Show. Bring along identification so you can pick up your show badge. Your badge identifies you as a member of the jewelry industry. That's great when you're on the show floor or at a show function, but it's like painting a bull's eye on your chest when you leave the safety of the show venue.

Remove your badge as soon as you have left the show floor. Put it in a secure place that's out of sight. When you return to the Sands Convention Center, wait until you are ready to enter the show floor to put it back on.

When you leave the show for the last time, destroy the badge. If you leave the badge in your room or toss it into a trash can, you could be giving someone else access to your identify.
